Evropska unija garantuje svojim građanima da mogu da žive i rade bilo gdje unutar EU pod uslovom da mogu da se izdržavaju. Takođe, Evropska unija poklanja puno pažnje stvaranju harmonizovanih standarda kako bi doprinijela razvoju i održavanju efikasnog jedinstvenog tržišta. Unutar Evropske unije, koja u nekim slučajevima podsjeća na federaciju, posebno kad su u pitanju ekonomska i socijalna pitanja, države članice saraduju na izgradnji mira i prosperiteta kroz uspostavljanje zajedničkih institucija. Evropski parlament i Savjet Evropske unije dva su glavna tijela Unije koja imaju ovlaštenja da usvajaju zakone. Izbori za Evropski parlament se održavaju, neposredno u svakoj državi članici, svakih pet godina počevši od 1979. Izuzetno, ako se zemlja priključi između dvaju izbora, biće održani dopunski izbori za njihove članove. Ovo se dogodilo četiri puta, najskorije kada su se 2007. priključile Rumunija i Bugarska.

The European Union guarantees its citizens that they can live and work anywhere within the EU, provided they can support themselves. Likewise/Also, the European Union devotes a lot of attention to creating (the creation of) harmonized standards in order to contribute to development and maintenance of an efficient, single market. Within the EU, which in some affairs/issues resembles a federation, especially when it comes to/regarding/concerning economic and social affairs/issues, member states make joint efforts/collaborate/collaborate to deliver peace and prosperity through setting up/founding/establishing/forming common institutions. The European Parliament and the Council of the European Union are the two main bodies of the Union authorized to legislate/adopt/pass laws. The elections for the European Parliament have been held, directly in each member state, every five years since 1979. In exceptional cases, if a state joins the EU between the two elections, additional elections are held for their members. This has occurred/happened four times, the most recent example being when Romania and Bulgaria joined the EU in 2007.
